Cultural Studies of Transnationalism - Handel Kashope Wright 2013-09-13

This book asks what 'transnationalism' might mean for Cultural Studies as an intellectual project shaped in vastly differing circumstances across the world. With contributions from scholars with experience of cultural life and the work of education in various regions, countries and locales - from francophone Africa, Eastern Europe and the Middle East to Hawaii, Jamaica, South Korea and Japan - Cultural Studies of Transnationalism ranges across literary, film, dance, theatrical and translation studies to explore the socially material and institutional factors that not only shape transnational developments in culture broadly understood, but also frame the academic and professional spaces in which we reflect on these. This book was originally published as a special issue of the journal Cultural Studies.

Littérature berbère - 2006-07-01

La littérature berbère contemporaine connaît une croissance rapide comme d'autres littératures africaines qui commencent de s'écrire dans les langues autochtones. Comment émerge et se développe une littérature, comment se constituent une esthétique et une langue littéraires ? Telles sont les questions auxquelles ce panorama de la néo-littérature berbère fournit des éléments de réponse.

A Companion to African Literatures - Olakunle George 2021-03-22

Rediscover the diversity of modern African literatures with this authoritative resource edited by a leader in the field How have African literatures unfolded in their rich diversity in our modern era of decolonization, nationalisms, and extensive transnational movement of peoples? How have African writers engaged urgent questions regarding race, nation, ethnicity, gender, and sexuality? And how do African literary genres interrelate with traditional oral forms or audio-visual and digital media? A Companion to African Literatures addresses these issues and many more. Consisting of essays by distinguished scholars and emerging leaders in the field, this book offers rigorous, deeply engaging discussions of African literatures on the continent and in diaspora. It covers the four main geographical regions (East and Central Africa, North Africa, Southern Africa, and West Africa), presenting ample material to learn from and think with. A Companion To African Literatures is divided into five parts. The first four cover different regions of the continent, while the fifth part considers conceptual issues and newer directions of inquiry. Chapters focus on literatures in European languages officially used in Africa -- English, French, and Portuguese -- as well as homegrown African languages: Afrikaans, Amharic, Arabic, Swahili, and Yoruba. With its lineup of lucid and authoritative analyses, readers will find in A Companion to African Literatures a distinctive, rewarding academic resource. Perfect for undergraduate and graduate students in literary studies programs with an African focus, A Companion to African Literatures will also earn a place in the libraries of teachers, researchers, and professors who wish to strengthen their background in the study of African literatures.

Die Ethnologie und die Politik des Raums - Carena Brenner 2014-06-30

Das Verhältnis von Repräsentation und Alterität und das Problem des Raums in kolonialen und postkolonialen Zusammenhängen stehen im Mittelpunkt dieser Studie. An der Schnittstelle von Ethnologie, Philosophie und Medienwissenschaft bestimmt Carena Brenner die Funktion der Ethnologie im Kontext dieser Politik des Räumlichen. Die Frage, wie raumübergreifende Bedeutungsproduktionen unter Bedingungen der Globalisierung ethnographisch erfasst und dargestellt werden können, arbeitet sie anhand einzelner Filme heraus. Das Buch überwindet damit einige der Mängel der bisherigen ethnologischen Auseinandersetzung mit Raum.

African Cinema and Human Rights - Mette Hjort 2019-03-01

Bringing theory and practice together, African Cinema and Human Rights argues that moving images have a significant role to play in advancing the causes of justice and fairness. The contributors to this volume identify three key ways in which film can achieve these goals: documenting human rights abuses and thereby supporting the claims of victims and goals of truth and reconciliation within larger communities; legitimating, and consequently solidifying, an expanded scope for human rights; and promoting the realization of social and economic rights. Including the voices of African scholars, scholar-filmmakers, African directors Jean-Marie Teno and Gaston Kaboré, and researchers whose work focuses on transnational cinema, this volume explores overall perspectives, and differences of perspective, pertaining to Africa, human rights, and human rights filmmaking alongside specific case studies of individual films and areas of human rights violations. With its interdisciplinary scope, attention to practitioners' self-understandings, broad perspectives, and particular case studies, African Cinema and Human Rights is a foundational text that offers questions, reflections, and evidence that help us to consider film's ideal role within the context of our ever-continuing struggle towards a more just global society.

The A to Z of French Cinema - Dayna Oscherwitz 2009-09-02

It can be argued that cinema was created in France by Louis Lumière in 1895 with the invention of the cinematographe, the first true motion-picture camera and projector. While there were other cameras and devices invented earlier that were capable of projecting intermittent motion of images, the cinematographe was the first device capable of recording and externally projecting images in such a way as to convey motion. Early films such as Lumière's La Sortie de l'usine, a minute-long film of workers leaving the Lumière factory, captured the imagination of the nation and quickly inspired the likes of Georges Méliès, Alice Guy, and Charles Pathé. Through the years, French cinema has been responsible for producing some of the world's best directors—Jean Renoir, Jean-Luc Godard, François Truffaut, and Louis Malle—and actors—Charles Boyer, Catherine Deneuve, Gérard Philipe, and Audrey Tautou. The A to Z of French Cinema covers the history of French film from the silent era to the present in a concise and up to date volume detailing the development of French cinema and major theoretical and cultural issues related to it. This is done through a chronology, an introduction, photographs, a bibliography, and hundreds of cross-referenced dictionary entries on many of the major actors, directors, films, movements, producers, and studios associated with French cinema. Going beyond mere biographical information, entries also discuss the impact and significance of each individual, film, movement, or studio included. This detailed, scholarly analysis of the development of film in France is useful to both the novice and the expert alike. Dictionnaire des cinéastes africains de long métrage - Jean-François Brière 2008-01-01 De l'Afrique du Sud au Zimbabwe en passant par l'Égypte, une filmographie, jusqu'alors inconnue, se glisse dans ces pages démontrant que le continent africain bruisse du doux défilement de la pellicule. Ce dictionnaire présente les films de long métrage réalisés par des Africains en Afrique ou en exil.

Trans, multi, interculturalité, trans, multi, interdiscipli. - Patrick Imbert 2013-02-20T00:00:00-05:00 Entre le transculturel et le transdisciplinaire, comme entre le multidisciplinaire ou l'interculturel et l'interdisciplinaire, des convergences concernant la science, la société et l'esthétique se tissent. Afin d'établir des assises théoriques qui soutiennent et stimulent les échanges entre chercheurs, les auteurs conceptualisent les termes de trans, de multi et d'inter. Dans l'inter, on protège les limites conceptuelles et on impose l'homogène propre au nationalisme méthodologique qui conçoit ou expérimente la société et ses problématiques en fonction de la vision territoriale des États. Par le multi, on saisit les accommodements à partir de la flexibilité de départ. Par le trans, on échappe aux origines pour explorer les relations et les réseaux. Ainsi, de l'inter, au trans, en passant par le multi, on explore divers corpus esthétiques, médiatiques et scientifiques pour saisir les enjeux de la société des savoirs. Arts Management, Cultural Policy, & the African Diaspora - Antonio C. Cuyler 2022-06-15

This book centers people of African descent as cultural leaders to challenge the myth that they do not know how or care about managing and preserving their culture. Arts Management, Cultural Policy, & the African Diaspora also presents comparative case studies of the challenges, differences, similarities, and successes in approaches to cultural leadership across multiple cultural contexts throughout the diaspora. This volume disrupts the enduring and systemic global marginalization, oppression, and subjugation that threatens and undermines people of African descent's cultural contributions to humanity. The most important distinguishing feature of the volume is its geographical use of the African diaspora to explore the subjects of arts management and cultural policy which, to date, no volume has done before. Furthermore, the volume's comparative examination of ten critical, historical, practical, and theoretical questions makes it a significant contribution to the literatures in Arts Management, Cultural Policy, Cultural, Africana, African American, and Ethnic studies.

Mediascapes - AA. VV.

2020-03-23T00:00:00+01:00

Oggi la diversità culturale passa dall'uso che le società fanno dei media, dai modi in cui il flusso planetario di immagini, video, film e fiction televisive viene rimodellato localmente da strategie individuali e di gruppo che, nel consumo e nella produzione di immagini, cercano di tratteggiare rappresentazioni più o meno coerenti del mondo, di comporre memorie collettive, di darsi una visione del futuro. Prendono così corpo paesaggi mediatici nazionali e transnazionali, che alimentano l'immaginazione, i desideri e le emozioni di esistenze sempre più mobili e dislocate. I saggi raccolti nel volume calano questi temi nella concretezza del lavoro etnografico condotto in aree di crisi, di conflitto e di forte cambiamento culturale: dall'Italia a Israele, dalla Thailandia alla Cina, dalla Nigeria al Camerun, al Congo e al Brasile.

Cinema and Social Discourse in Cameroon - Alexie Tcheuyap 2005

Cinema and Social Discourse in Cameroon analyzes a cinema, that has been inaugurating some major thematic and aesthetic innovations for the last twenty years. The essays in this volume use film semiotics, postcolonial enquiries, as well as cultural theories to stimulate alternative, innovative, and radical analyses that interrogate and disrupt official discourses and preoccupations about national culture. They also reveal the diverse and creative voices in Cameroon film, deepening our understanding of the language and social discourse of a vibrant national cinema.

Camerun digitale - Giovanna Santanera

2020-05-28T00:00:00+02:00

L'Africa sta attraversando una vera e propria rivoluzione digitale. I giovani, tenuti ai margini in società fortemente gerontocratiche, sono i protagonisti indiscussi di questa trasformazione. Come la diffusione di nuove tecnologie interseca forme radicate di diseguaglianza ed esclusione? Questo libro affronta la questione dalla prospettiva dei giovani di Douala, la capitale economica della Repubblica del Camerun, attraverso l'analisi della loro produzione di video di fiction. Immergendosi nel mondo sociale dei cineasti, il volume ricostruisce le caratteristiche di una pratica mediatica ambigua, allo stesso tempo fonte di riscatto e segno di marginalità, che accende i riflettori sulla condizione di esclusione dei giovani camerunesi, riuscendo a tratti ad alleviarla.

Drinking from the Cosmic Gourd - Nyamnjoh, Francis B. 2017-03-15

This book questions colonial and apartheid ideologies on being human and being African, ideologies that continue to shape how research is conceptualised, taught and practiced in universities across Africa. Africans immersed in popular traditions of meaning-making are denied the right, by those who police the borders of knowledge, to think and represent their realities in accordance with the civilisations and universes they know best. Often, the ways of life they cherish are labelled and dismissed too eagerly as traditional knowledge by some of the very African intellectual elite they look to for protection. The book makes a case for sidestepped traditions of knowledge. It draws attention to Africa's possibilities, prospects and emergent capacities for being and becoming in tune with its creativity and imagination. It speaks to the nimble-footed flexible-minded "frontier African" at the crossroads and junctions of encounters, facilitating creative conversations and challenging regressive logics of exclusionary identities. The book uses Amos Tutuola's stories to question dualistic assumptions about reality and scholarship, and to call for conviviality, interconnections and interdependence between competing knowledge traditions in Africa.

Chiefly short biographies and filmographies.

Africa and France - Dominic Richard David Thomas 2013

This stimulating and insightful book reveals how increased control over immigration has changed cultural and social production in theater, literature, and even museum construction. Dominic Thomas's analysis unravels the complex cultural and political realities of long-standing mobility between Africa and Europe. Thomas questions the attempt to place strict limits on what it means to be French or European and offers a sense of what must happen to bring about a renewed sense of integration and global Frenchness.

Who's Who in Research: Cultural Studies - Intellect Books 2013-01-01

Increasingly, academic communities transcend national boundaries. 'Collaboration between researchers across space is clearly increasing, as well as being increasingly sought after,' noted the online magazine Inside Higher Ed in a recent article about research in the social sciences and humanities. Even for those scholars who don't work directly with international colleagues, staying up-to-date and relevant requires keeping up with international currents of thought in one's field. But when one's colleagues span the globe, it's not always easy to keep track of who's who - or what kind of research they're conducting. That's where Intellect's new series comes in. A set of worldwide guides to leading academics - and their work - across the arts and humanities, Who's Who in Research features comprehensive profiles of scholars in the areas of cultural studies, film studies, media studies, performing arts and visual arts. Who's Who in Research: Visual Arts includes concise yet detailed listings include each academic's name, institution, biography, and current research interests, as well as bibliographic information and a list of articles published in Intellect journals. The volumes in the Who's Who in Research series will be updated each year, providing the most current information on the foremost thinkers in academia and making them an invaluable resource for scholars, hiring committees, academic libraries and would-be collaborators across the arts and humanities.

Contemporary Cinema of Africa and the Diaspora - Anjali Prabhu 2014-04-17

Analyzing art house films from the African continent and the African diaspora, this book showcases a new generation of auteurs with African origins from political, aesthetic, and spectatorship perspectives. Focuses on art house cinema and discusses commercial African cinema. Enlarges our understanding of African film to include thematic and aesthetic influence. Highlights aesthetic and political aspects including racial identity, women's issues, and diaspora. Heavily illustrated with over 90 film stills. Features selected stills integral to the filmic analysis in full color. Moves beyond Western-oriented analytical paradigms.

Expression cinématographique et création romanesque en Afrique francophone -

Etienne-Marie Lassi 2015-01-14

"L'une des conséquences les plus importantes de la conception utilitariste de l'adaptation filmique est qu'en considérant le cinéma comme un instrument de diffusion, elle en fait un sous-produit de la littérature et elle néglige l'aptitude du septième art à féconder la création littéraire. En réalité, la majorité des travaux sur l'interaction du filmique et du littéraire en Afrique francophone portent sur l'adaptation filmique et, même si les auteurs contestent, à juste titre, la prééminence de la littérature sur le cinéma, ils n'envisagent pas nécessairement ce dernier comme un événement culturel pouvant, à son tour, influencer ou inspirer les autres arts en général et la littérature en particulier. Les écrivains africains ont pourtant écrit des romans adaptés des films, des romans dont l'univers s'organise autour du cinéma et des romans dont l'esthétique s'inspire du cinéma." Voilà tout l'enjeu de cette étude qui renverse l'approche traditionnelle des rapports entre littérature et cinéma, et qui ouvre des pistes de lecture et de réflexion inédites. En un mouvement réflexif de plus en plus "subversif", qui interroge les représentations du cinéma dans le roman francophone africain, puis l'incorporation à ce dernier de procédés filmiques, avant d'apprécier les novélisations, E.-M. Lassi livre une analyse qui, par-delà ses apports et interprétations précises et riches, nous invite plus généralement à reconsidérer la hiérarchie - ainsi que la valeur - que l'on impose aux différents arts.

New Spaces for French and Francophone Cinema - James F. Austin 2009-01-01

"On the occasion of the fiftieth anniversary of the French Nouvelle Vague, this volume of Yale French studies aims to take the pulse of French and Francophone cinema today by exploring the national, transnational, and post-colonial spaces of twenty-first-century France."--From publisher description.

Africa's Lost Classics - Lizelle Bisschoff 2017-07-05

Until recently, the story of African film was marked by a series of truncated histories: many outstanding films from earlier decades were virtually inaccessible and thus often excluded from critical accounts. However, various conservation projects since the turn of the century have now begun to make many of these films available to critics and audiences in a way that was unimaginable just a decade ago. In this accessible and lively collection of essays, Lizelle Bisschoff and David Murphy draw together the best scholarship on the diverse and fragmented strands of African film history. Their volume recovers over 30 'lost' African classic films from 1920-2010 in order to provide a more complex genealogy and begin to trace new histories of African filmmaking: from 1920s Egyptian melodramas through lost gems from apartheid South Africa to neglected works by great Francophone directors, the full diversity of African cinema will be revealed.

Mapping Alternative Expressions of Blackness in Cinema - Boulou Ebanda De B'éri 2006

Postcolonial Artists and Global Aesthetics - Akinwumi Adesokan 2011

What happens when social and political processes such as globalization shape cultural production? Drawing on a range of writers and filmmakers from Africa and elsewhere, Akin Adesokan explores the forces at work in the production and circulation of culture in a globalized world. He tackles problems such as artistic representation in the era of decolonization, the uneven development of aesthetics across the world, and the impact of location and commodity culture on genres, with a distinctive approach that exposes the global processes transforming cultural forms.

French XX Bibliography - William J. Thompson 2007-09

Provides the listing of books, articles, and book reviews concerned with French literature since 1885. This is a reference source in the study of modern French literature and culture. It contains nearly 8,800 entries.

Ethics and Aesthetics in Contemporary African Cinema - James S. Williams 2019-03-21

Since the beginnings of African cinema, the realm of beauty on screen has been treated with suspicion by directors and critics alike. James S. Williams explores an exciting new generation of African directors, including Abderrahmane Sissako, Mahamat-Saleh Haroun, Fanta Régina Nacro, Alain Gomis, Newton I. Aduaka, Jean-Pierre Bekolo and Mati Diop, who have begun to reassess and embrace the concept of cinematic beauty by not reducing it to ideological critique or the old ideals of pan-Africanism. Locating the aesthetic within a range of critical fields - the rupturing of narrative spectacle and violence by montage, the archives of the everyday in the 'afropolis', the plurivocal mysteries of sound and language, male intimacy and desire, the borderzones of migration and transcultural drift - this study reveals the possibility for new, non-conceptual kinds of beauty in African cinema: abstract, material, migrant, erotic, convulsive, queer. Through close readings of key works such as Life on Earth (1998), The Night of Truth (2004), Bamako (2006), Daratt (Dry Season) (2006), A Screaming Man (2010), Tey (Today) (2012), The Pirogue (2012), Mille soleils (2013) and Timbuktu (2014), Williams argues that contemporary African filmmakers are proposing propitious, ethical forms of relationality and intersubjectivity. These stimulate new modes of cultural resistance and transformation that serve to redefine the transnational and the cosmopolitan as well as the very notion of the political in postcolonial art cinema.

Le 'Verbe' au cinéma - Boulou Ebanda de B'béri 2013

Un essai, politique, sur l'oralité dans un corpus de films d'Afrique noire francophone de 1950 à 2000. Dans un langage clair, l'auteur illustre comment dans les sociétés de l'écriture, le texte engagerait l'Homme et que cette écriture aurait imposé un genre, un style et des modes de production de sens qui sont propres à ces sociétés de l'écriture d'où, par exemple, la naissance du langage cinématographique formalise. Ainsi il se demande ce qui arriverait à une analyse de film calquée sur ce langage dont les articulations discursives ne sont pas nécessairement en adéquation avec la mysticité de la parole qui, elle, engagerait véritablement l'Homme en Afrique noire? Qu'arrive-t-il à l'analyse quand l'image d'une parole détourne le sens prescrit dans les modes opératoires du langage cinématographique des sociétés de l'écrit? Comment le cinéma, à travers la technique audiovisuelle, devient-il une technologie par excellence capable de nous faire voir la nature mystique et culturelle de cette parole?

Historical Dictionary of French Cinema - Dayna Oscherwitz 2007

Historical Dictionary of French Cinema covers the history of French film from the silent era to the present in a concise and up-to-date details of the development of French cinema and related theoretical and cultural issues. The Films of Claire Denis - Marjorie Vecchio 2014-10-01

The films of Claire Denis, one of the most challenging and respected of contemporary filmmakers, probe the psyche of global citizenship, tracing the borderlines of family, desire, nationality and power. With subtlety, depth and at times minimalism and abstraction, her films - including "Chocolat", "Beau travail" and "White Material" - explore connections between national experience and individual circumstance, visualizing the complications of such dualities. Following a Foreword by Wim Wenders, with whom Denis worked prior to making her own movies, international contributors explore the themes she addresses in her films, such as kinship and landscape, Neo-Colonialism and New French Extremity. Original interviews with an editor, actor and two composers most familiar with the working style of Denis, and with Denis herself, also reveal fresh facets of this intrepid filmmaker. As Wim Wenders writes in his Foreword: 'This book will hopefully throw many new lights on the amazing director that Klarchen [Claire Denis] became, a path she carved out all on her own.'

Empowerment in Cameroon - Gilbert Doho

De l'écrit à l'écran - Alexie Tcheuyap 2004-01-01

De l'écrit à l'écran est le premier ouvrage qui aborde la question de la réécriture filmique du roman africain francophone. Il se sert de la sémiologie de l'image, de la poétique et des théories post-coloniales pour définir les enjeux théoriques, idéologiques et sémantiques régissant le passage des textes littéraires au cinéma. Il identifie des paramètres importants dans la poétique de l'écriture et montre le rôle de l'acte créateur dans l'altérité du texte dérivé, filmique, par rapport au texte de départ, littéraire. De ce fait, il formule des propositions novatrices par rapport aux interrogations purement spéculatives, thématiques ou idéologiques sur « l'adaptation », acte de récréation et de réécriture dont les mécanismes dépassent le seul cadre des cinémas africains.

Historical Dictionary of the Republic of

Cameroon - Mark Dike DeLancey 2010-05-03

Cameroon is a country endowed with a variety of climates and agricultural environments, numerous minerals, substantial forests, and a dynamic population. It is a country that should be a leader of Africa. Instead, we find a country almost paralyzed by corruption and poor management, a country with a low life expectancy and serious health problems, and a country from which the most talented and highly educated members of the population are emigrating in large numbers. Although Cameroon has made economic progress since independence, it has not been able to change the dependent nature of its economy. The economic situation combined with the dismal record of its political history, indicate that prospects for political stability, justice, and prosperity are dimmer than they have been for most of the country's independent existence. The fourth edition of the Historical Dictionary of the Republic of Cameroon has been updated to reflect advances in the study of Cameroon's history as well as to provide coverage of the years since the last edition. It relates the turbulent history of Cameroon through a chronology, an introductory essay, a bibliography, and over 600 cross-referenced dictionary entries on significant persons, events, places, organizations, and other aspects of Cameroon history from the earliest times to the present.
